Download: Q: How can I detect when an android app has been closed programmatically? Is there a way to detect if an Android app has been closed (i.e. device goes to sleep)?

Background: I'd like to detect when an app has been closed (and thus, saved to the home screen) since this is the only way I know of to figure out when user is no longer working with an app.

A: I haven't tried this on the Android emulator, but this should work on the device:

@Override
public void onPause() { // Register for onPause event.
super.onPause(); // Try to determine if the activity has been terminated by user. ActivityManager activityManager
= (ActivityManager)
getSystemService(ACTIVITY_SERVICE); List
runningProcesses = activityManager
.getRunningAppProcesses(); for (ActivityManager.RunningAppProcessInfo
runningProcessInfo : runningProcesses) { if (runningProcessInfo.pid == Process.myPid()) {
isApplicationSaved = true; break; } } } @Override public void onDestroy() { // Unregister for onPause event.
super.onDestroy(); // Try to determine if the activity has been terminated by user. ActivityManager activityManager
= (ActivityManager)
getSystemService(ACTIVITY_SERVICE); List
runningProcesses = activityManager

```
.getRunningAppProcesses(); for (ActivityManager.RunningAppProcessInfo
runningProcessInfo : runningProcesses) { if (runningProcessInfo.pid == Process.myPid()) {
isApplicationSaved = false; f678ea9f9e
